

Opera Houses

Kearney

Linden, manager of the Opera House, has ordered 300 opera glasses to be fastened to the backs of chairs the Opera House. He may be assured that the public appreciates his energy in making this the best opera House.

Took a Drop

A rat got caught in the drum in the elevator of the opera house last evening, and the ropes wound around and killed it. The cage dropped two stories and caught again. It was a hard test for the automatic catches on the elevator but they worked all right.
